“The shift is driven by the convenience and significant tax benefits offered by ETFs, as well as the ability for major investors to manage their wealth through existing financial advisers and access broader investment/lending services,” Hiesboeck said.

This rush to buy protection is noticeably changing the market and has caused the price of bearish bets to become more expensive than bullish ones, Melville explained. This trend, which started with Bitcoin, has now extended to Ethereum, indicating that Ethereum investors are becoming increasingly cautious.

Ripple continues to ink partnerships with traditional financial companies and digital asset projects alike, committing to several deals in September and October.

The crypto community also remains divided regarding the Tempo blockchain and whether a payments-focused, dedicated stablecoin blockchain network is even needed.

“Fast forward a few years: Corporate chains will end up with the complex tech but without the added value for users, which is no central entity to control them. At that point, these chains will lose the focus from corporates.”

Last week, investors liquidated more than $19 billion in largely leveraged crypto futures positions.
