Cross-border payment is one of the important application scenarios of blockchain technology. The traditional cross-border payment process is complex, involving multiple intermediaries, with long settlement time and high fees. In contrast, cross-border payments based on blockchain technology can realize direct peer-to-peer transactions, greatly simplifying the process, shortening settlement time, and reducing costs. Currently, several countries and financial institutions have begun to try using blockchain technology for cross-border payments. With the continuous maturity of technology and the improvement of regulatory frameworks, blockchain cross-border payments are expected to become the mainstream cross-border payment method in the future.

While Galaxy did not disclose the client's identity, it said the sale was part of the investor's "broader estate planning strategy," as previously reported by Cointelegraph.

"They conjured billions in paper wealth by issuing shares far above their real Bitcoin value — until the illusion vanished," they continued.
