SearchGPT is the latest development in what appears to be a new era in web search, which The Verge's Nilay Patel has termed "Google Zero." This approach prioritizes practicality over variety: instead of presenting a list with different sources and approaches to a specific query, which encourages users to do their own research, AI-powered search engines opt for a more direct tactic, providing concise, summarized information responding exactly to what users are looking for.

In his Monday blog post, which drew on his Sept. 15 paper pushing the same idea, he argues that a communication system should be established where law enforcement agencies can directly query crypto firms for investigative purposes.

Meanwhile, a new variant of XCSSET has emerged that can take screenshots, record what a user is doing, and steal data from their Telegram account.
