The Pokradar is an item introduced in update 4.8. It originally appeared in Pokemon Diamond and Pearl. It is the only way to obtain several rare Pokemon in the game. How to obtain[]The Pokradar is obtained from Professor Oak's assistant in Cerulean City's Pokemon Center. After obtaining the Exp. Share from her by using the DNA Splicers 5 times, she will ask you to help her with some field research on Route 24. Go help her and she will hand you the Pokradar.How it works[]The Pokradar works mostly similar to the official games with the one difference that you need to have encountered every Pokemon in a route to have access to the Pokradar exclusive encounters. It will apply a Repel and up to 3 patches of grass will rustle, these are where the tracked Pokemon can be found. You need to walk on top of one of those patches to encounter the Pokemon. Each tile has a 25% chance to rustle for a longer duration; and the exclusive encounters can only be found on those tiles that rustle more, where they have a 50% chance to be encountered.Repel effect only works if you're higher level than the wild Pokemon in the areaf you are getting encounters while walking towards that shaking patch of grass, the lead Pokemon in your party is too low. You need to be about 10 levels higher of the area you are in.If you are getting to the shaky grass spot, but no encounter occurs, the lead Pokemon level is too high.Keep in Mind: Some other variables might affect the encounter as well. Weather, using flutes, and some abilities (ILLUMINATE, ARENATRAP, NOGUARD, INTIMIDATE, KEENEYE), might affect the results you are getting.The Pokradar also shows a list of the Pokemon that are currently available in the area. The list is also displayed when the Pokradar is used while surfing or in a cave with no additional effects.How to Chain[]Chaining has some slight differences compared to other titles, but the same general rules apply: Be in as large of a grass patch as you can, always go the furthest possible spot you can (radially). You increase the chain by Fainting or Catching the same Pokemon in a row. This needs to be done without breaking the chain, which is a random chance measured by your current chain and how far away the grass patch was from you. Its between 86% (at adjacent tile) and 98% (at 4 tiles radially away) to continue the chain. After you reach chain 40 you cannot break your chain naturally. You can still break it by: Random encounter by not using repel, leaving the grass or not having enough space in the grass to summon a random encounter. Due to the way Patches generation and Rings work, it is optimal to only ever go into patches in the centre of a 3x3 square. This is due to 4 tiles in a 9x9 square centred on the player are chosen, all at a different distance from the player, 1 in each radial ring. This means that if you go to the edge of a grass patch you have roughly a 50/50 chance to break your chain. So it can be optimal, albeit slow, to make sure you reuse the radar over and over until a specific patch shakes. This is more necessary for patches with small size or awkward shape. After a chain of 20 your shiny odds cap out at 1/200 (Shiny charm no effect), meaning you can stand still and continue to reactivate the Radar until you see a shiny patch. Any shiny caught this way will have a black star.List of exclusive Pokemon[]This is based on version 6.4.5. Some of the encounters might vary if you're playing a different version. VERY IMPORTANT!The purpose of Fusion Origins is that you can play with Pokemon that are fused from different Pokemon. The cheats from Gen 1 to 2 will give you the Pokemon in the game based on the cheat code given. Example: Using the Bulbasaur Code will give you its counterpart, the Bulbadie. However, there are some codes that will give you arandom Pokemon based on the game. Then, for Gen 3 onward, the codes will work, but they will give you the Pokemon based on the code. These Pokemon may have not been intended for the game, so whether you use them or not is up to you. We cannot say for sure that the Pokemon will bug or glitch the game out. cookies to ensure the proper functionality of our platform. For more information, please see our Cookie Notice and our Privacy Policy. The Pokradar is an item introduced in update 4.8. It originally appeared in Pokmon Diamond and Pearl. It is the only way to obtain several rare Pokmon in the game. How to obtain[]The Pokradar is obtained from Professor Oak's assistant in Cerulean City's Pokmon Center. After obtaining the Exp. Share from her by using the DNA Splicers 5 times, she will ask you to help her with some field research on Route 24. Go help her and she will hand you the Pokradar.How it works[]The Pokradar works mostly similar to the official games with the one difference that you need to have encountered every Pokmon in a route to have access to the Pokradar exclusive encounters. It will apply a Repel and up to 3 patches of grass will rustle, these are where the tracked Pokmon can be found. You need to walk on top of one of those patches to encounter the Pokmon. Each tile has a 25% chance to rustle for a longer duration; and the exclusive encounters can only be found on those tiles that rustle more, where they have a 50% chance to be encountered.Repel effect only works if you're higher level than the wild Pokmon in the areaIf you are getting encounters while walking towards that shaking patch of grass, the lead Pokmon in your party is too low. You need to be about 10 levels higher of the area you are in.If you are getting to the shaky grass spot, but no encounter occurs, the lead Pokmon level is too high.Keep in Mind: Some other variables might affect the encounter as well. Weather, using flutes, and some abilities (ILLUMINATE, ARENATRAP, NOGUARD, INTIMIDATE, KEENEYE), might affect the results you are getting.The Pokradar also shows a list of the Pokmon that are currently available in the area. The list is also displayed when the Pokradar is used while surfing or in a cave with no additional effects.How to Chain[]Chaining has some slight differences compared to other titles, but the same general rules apply: Be in as large of a grass patch as you can, always go the the furthest possible spot you can (radially). You increase the chain by Fainting or Catching the same Pokmon in a row. This needs to be done without breaking the chain, which is a random chance measured by your current chain and how far away the grass patch was from you. Its between 86% (at adjacent tile) and 98% (at 4 tiles radially away) to continue the chain. After you reach chain 40 you cannot break your chain naturally. You can still break it by: Random encounter by not using repel, leaving the grass or not having enough space in the grass to summon a random encounter. Due to the way Patches generation and Rings work, it is optimal to only ever go into patches in the centre of a 3x3 square. This is due to 4 tiles in a 9x9 square centred on the player are chosen, all at a different distance from the player, 1 in each radial ring. This means that if you go to the edge of a grass patch you have roughly a 50/50 chance to break your chain. So it can be optimal, albeit slow, to make sure you reuse the radar over and over until a specific patch shakes. This is more necessary for patches with small size or awkward shape. After a chain of 20 your shiny odds cap out at 1/200 (Shiny charm no effect), meaning you can stand still and continue to reactivate the Radar until you see a shiny patch. Any shiny caught this way will have a black star.List of exclusive Pokmon[]This is based on version 6.4.5. Some of the encounters might vary if you're playing a different version.
