"Families Caring for Families" There are 101 decisions to make when a loved one dies. And knowing everything is taken care of beforehand frees you from making tough decisions at a time when making them could be hard. Read More Every funeral is different. Every family is different. A family should make a funeral choice that fits their needs at the time of loss. Read More Cremation offers families a variety of options. From elaborate and traditional to dignified and simple, cremation is an option which allows for great flexibility in, style of service, time of service, price and preference for final resting place. Read More Ludvigsen Mortuary handled the arrangements for two dear family members in the past year, my dad and my niece. I cannot express how grateful I am for their care, compassion, and professionalism. They easily handled our many requests, working with us until the programs, services, and details were all perfect. At a time of unbelievable loss, families need a funeral home that will make them feel that everything-and everyone-is taken care of, and that's exactly how we felt on both occasions. I am so appreciative of the important service that Ludvigsen's provides to our communities. Very highly recommended. We have just visited with Larry and Jon regarding my mothers funeral arrangements. We are so at peace with our discussion and decisions that were made. Larry explained at length all the preparations we needed to make and how to handle the legal matters. So many details to remember. We are so thankful for this experience. I have worked with Larry and Jon over a dozen times. I am always amazed at their involvement in the community, the connection they have with their customers and their ability to remain caring and professional. bg When you visit Ludvigsen Mortuary, one of our experienced funeral directors will guide you through the entire arrangement process, and assist you in creating a memorable celebration of your loved one's life.
