

I'm not a bot

Betower english version download free download

Nadia has a secret that forces her to leave for her aunt's place in Magoebaskloof. There, she meets Poenk, also known as Bos-Poenk or Geheimsinnige Poenk. Poenk teaches Nadia how to smell fungi and introduces her to various shades of green, including ritselgroen (rustling green), bangmaakgroen (terrifying green), fluistergroen (whispering green), kieliegroen (shimmering green), and flikkergroen (glittering green). Poenk is a mysterious figure who becomes Nadia's confidant, sharing poems and stories with her. However, Poenk also has a secret of his own. The book "Betower" was a runner-up in the 2011 LAPA Young Novel Competition. The judges praised the author, Fanie Viljoen, for skillfully blending fantasy and realism to create a modern, lyrical fairy tale that tackles tough realities faced by teenagers with a refreshing approach. The story is about mistakes and forgiveness, particularly self-forgiveness. The book offers readers an escape through its vivid language, engaging storyline, and unusual characters. It includes pre- and post-reading activities, questions, and answers, as well as a complete glossary of words used in the novel. Note: I've tried to preserve the original text's tone and style while rephrasing it in clearer English.